

ABSTRACT

Disclosed are a system and method of controlling a communication adapter in response to a sleep message generated by a power management system. In response to a receiving a sleep message, the speed of a clock signal controlling the communication adapter may reduced to place the communication adapter in a lower power state.

Atty. Docket: 42390.P12804